Decoding Your Electricity Bill

Bills from different utilities will look, well, different. The concepts behind a typical bill, though, are universal:

Section 1

Section 3

- Section 1: Distribution, or the delivery of electricity to your residence through your utility's power lines, substations and other equipment. This is the only section we do not negotiate for you, as it is a part of the service provided by your local utility (in this case, Pepco). Your utility pays for servicing its lines, fixing outages, etc., through Distribution charges.
- Section 2: Generation (sometimes called Supply), or the production of electricity at power plants. Electric Advisors affects the "Energy Charge" in this section of your bill.
- Section 3: Transmission, or the delivery of electricity over high-power lines to your local utility. Sometimes, this is combined with the Generation/Supply section. Electric Advisors affects the "Energy Charge" in this section as well.

EA cannot negotiate taxes or other costs—just your rates.
